

Existing Situation Modelling

Modelling existing situation is a typically process where you first import mapping and/or surveying data, and then use this to describe the existing situation in 3D.